

WHAT'S "WHISTLING" IN THE CARDINAL CLASS FOR NOVEMBER 2020

November Science Experiments...

1. Experiment: "Bottled Up"

Hypothesis: What will happen to the water in a plastic bottle when it is punctured with a push pin?

Answer : As long as the bottle is sealed at the top the forces will remain equal and the water will not leak out the pinhole.

2. Experiment: "Celery Surprise"

Hypothesis: What will happen to a stalk of celery when it is placed in a glass of colored water?"

Answer: The children will be able to see how the water travels up the stalk of celery to the leaves. You can see the tubes the colored water travels through to reach the leaves.

Cardinal Thanksgiving Day Feast

Within their classroom bubbles, the Cardinals will reenact the 1st Thanksgiving complete with Pilgrim and Native American costumes which the children make themselves! In the past we had parents sign up to make different Thanksgiving dishes so the children could enjoy a "family style" Thanksgiving Dinner together. Because of the restrictions this year we are asking all of our Cardinal parents to instead send in a personal meal for their child. We are hoping you can incorporate some Thanksgiving foods into this meal. Some of these items may include:

- Turkey
- Mashed Potatoes
- Sweet Potatoes
- Cornbread
- Stuffing
- Rolls
- Corn
- Gravy
- Dessert

We of course want this to be stress free for you and are not expecting you to send in all of the above! Just anything that you think that would make it feel festive and special for your child!
